BIOGRAPHY

Wei Chen was born in 1972, China. She currently resides in Seattle, Washington. She received her M. S. in Computer science from the University of Arizona in 2005. She works as software architect. However, her passion for photography can be traced back to over the beginning of 2000, when she started using her first digital camera to explore the natural world. From shooting seascapes, chasing the fleeting reflection abstract and impressionistic representation of water, to her recent interpretation of ocean scenes, photography created her visual journey. Using camera as brush and light as paint, she found the unique way to present photography as a form of creative art.
