

Nelson Condé

Bio

Nelson Conde is originally from Brooklyn, and now resides in the Hudson Valley. He is a contemporary fine art explorer, capturing dissonance in society, and abstract perspectives of urban structures. His imagery is non-representational, and fosters a fresh look at freedom in a democratic society.

Nelson is also managed the financial crisis at a major bank in NYC; experienced the effects of 911; and almost lost his cousin to a suicide bomber in Iraq. Most of all he is enriched by the many cultures he has come to know while growing up in different NYC neighborhoods, and his travels abroad.